Desperate Efforts Are Made To Reach 37 Trapped Miners

CARMICHAELS, Pa. (AP) — Rescue workers plodded to within some 4,000 feet today of 37 men trapped deep underground by a tremendous coal mine explosion.

U.S. Steel Corp., which operates the Robena No. 3 mine, said a recheck of its records showed a 37th man missing. A total of 36 men were believed trapped at first.

The men have not been heard from since the explosion at 1:15 p.m. Thursday.

Rescue crews had gone slightly more than halfway into the two-mile tunnel from the mine shaft after more than 22 hours of digging.

Lewis Evans, Pennsylvania secretary of mines, described the situation as "desperate," but held out hope the miners may be alive. "We hope the men built barricades to stop the flow of gas," he said.

Forty-four others working in another section of the pit walked out unhurt. Some returned to search for their colleagues who are 650 feet underground.

Slowed by deadly gas and tons of rubble that left shorings hanging like burnt matches, the rescue crews proceeded cautiously in the tunnel—its concrete walls buckled by the blast.

"Those men are looking into the barrel of a shotgun," said one union official. "With those fires smoldering down there, it could cause another explosion."

But the search goes on. So do the hopes and prayer of wives, brothers, sisters and relatives keeping a vigil in a corrugated metal building adjacent to the mine shaft. Ministers tried to comfort the grieving families.

The blast was the second in the 16-year-history of the Robena mine.

Evans, who is directing the operations, blamed it on a combination of gas and coal dust. He described the blast as one of tremendous nature.

The mine, one of the world's largest soft coal operations, is about 50 miles southwest of Pittsburgh. It produces coal for U.S. Steel's Clairton (Pa.) Works.

The mine shaft drops straight down 525 feet from the surface. At that point there is a sloping tunnel without branches extending two miles to the working face.

The tunnel drops gradually from 525 feet to 650 feet. That's the point where the men are trapped. There is only one exit to the surface.

Mine officials said air coming up from the mine shaft contains large amounts of carbon dioxide, indicating there is fire in the blast area.

The first indication of anything wrong was the reported failure of an electric exhaust fan. It blew out, but was repaired in 10 minutes. Five minutes later it conked out again.

James Giriod, an assistant mine superintendent, said the first crews down the shaft detected dust coming from all directions, indicating an explosion or fire.

The major problem for the rescue teams was to pump bad air out and clean air in. Concrete ventilation shafts had buckled under the blast.

Inside a corrugated steel shack above the surface some three dozen relatives of trapped miners waited in bitter wintry weather for news.

The explosion happened on the 55th anniversary of the worst U.S. mine accident on record. On Dec. 6, 1907, a disaster in a mine at Monongah, W. Va., killed 361 persons.

Pravda Seeks End Of Military Bases Around Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party paper Pravda called today for negotiations to liquidate American military bases around the Soviet Union.

The article, by the paper's authoritative diplomatic observer Yuri hukov, was the first important Soviet statement on U.S. overseas bases since President Kennedy rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demand for a swap of U.S. rocket bases in Cuba for U.S. bases in Turkey.

Zhukov repeated standard Soviet charges—that the bases are provocations against the Soviet Union, that they have outlived their usefulness, and that they only serve to prop up unpopular regimes.

Pen Guard Sentenced

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A former Ohio Penitentiary staff mates up until a few weeks ago, is back in the institution. But this time he is an inmate on a 1-to-2 year term.

Charles Looker, 52, of Columbus had pleaded guilty in Franklin County Criminal Court to a charge of carrying drugs into prisoners at the penitentiary. He was sentenced Thursday.

London Death Count at 106; Some Fog Relief Seen Near LONDON (AP) — The worst smog in a decade loosened its lethal four-day grip on London today, leaving 106 known dead and more than 1,000 in hospitals.

Dense patches persisted in parts of the British capital, but in most places the sun finally seeped wanly through a thin blue haze in mid-morning.

"London is like an oasis, completely ringed by a slowly clearing fog belt," said a spokesman for the British Automobile Association.

Visibility rose to 150 yards at London Airport, and weathermen said it should increase to an operational 2,000 yards later. At midday not one civil aircraft had been able to get in or out of the airport in 88 hours.

Still fogbound in the Thames Estuary, downriver from London, were more than 170 ships, many carrying Christmas foodstuffs badly needed in the nation's shops.

Commuter trains into London were up to 20 minutes late during the early morning rush hour. Main line trains on longer hauls ran up to 3½ hours behind schedule.

3 Accused Officers Plead Innocent

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three of five Cleveland policemen charged with a series of thefts pleaded innocent in Municipal Court today. The other two failed to make a court appearance because of a snowstorm.

Entering the pleas at their arraignment before Judge Edward F. Feighan were William Marlowe, 40, Henry Wankowski and Raymond Oile, both 28.

Bond was set at $5,000 for Marlowe, the central figure in the police scandal. He had resigned shortly after his arrest Monday.

Resignations from Wankowski and Oile were accepted Thursday by Police Chief Frank Story.

Type 11 Vaccine Available Sunday

Type II Sabin polio vaccine will be available to residents of Pickaway County between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. Sunday at ten schools designated as "clinics" for the mass immunization program.

The Pickaway County Medical Society today stated that the Type II vaccine can and should be taken by everyone even if the first dosage of the vaccine was not consumed.

Local doctors pointed out that Type I vaccine is available at all doctors' offices. It was administered here to over 17,000 persons on November 4.

Drs. H. H. Swope and Frank Moore, local co-chairmen of the program, said today: "The Sabin vaccine is safe and easy to obtain life-time full protection against polio and to stop the spread of the disease from person to person."

PERSONS who received Type I vaccine are asked to complete the printed form that was necessary prior to receiving the first dosage of the drug. Persons taking the vaccine for the first time are also requested to complete the printed form to eliminate standing in line at the vaccination centers.

The ten vaccination centers are: Circleville High School, S. Court St. and Atwater Schools, Ashville-Harrison School, Logan Elm School, Monroe Twp., New Holland and Williamsport High Schools, Walnut and Scioto Twp. schools.

High Drifts Reduce Traffic; School, Other Events Halted

Circleville and Pickaway County awakened this morning to confront early stages of its worst snowstorm in 12 years.

Transportation in some sections was almost at a standstill. Where vehicles could move, it was with extreme slowness and caution.

To make matters worse, the weather bureau has indicated no relief is in sight before late tonight. Meanwhile strong winds whipped ground snow into high drifts, causing the closing of all city and county schools and many highways.

Delay was a byword early this morning as employees made desperate efforts to get to work. Many area businesses and industries suddenly found themselves understaffed due to the transportation problem. Many workers who did get through were hours late.

CITY, county and state road-street crews worked throughout the night to keep thoroughfares clear. But they could not hold pace with the drifting snows piled up by heavy gusts, labeled as a main cause of the storm severity.

Early decisions were made to close schools in the city and county and many other parts of the state. Highway surveys by administrators deemed this action necessary. Basketball games and other activities were postponed.

Many big trucks were stranded in the city and nearby locales starting yesterday evening. Several drivers reported being off the road three times before halting their efforts to proceed.

The same was true for cars. Even four-lane highways like Route 23 and heavily traveled

DiSalle Still Wants Liquor Probe Findings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle renewed efforts today to make public secret proceedings of the recently discharged special grand jury investigating claims of influence peddling in the liquor department.

He asked Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy to give him a copy of testimony by grand jury witnesses during seven weeks of work.

The governor said his request was made with the intention of releasing the 1,600-page transcript to newsmen.

"Evidently, some who are concerned that the truth might be known are raising a hue and cry at the very idea," DiSalle said in a letter to McElroy.

Request for the transcript followed by two days the governor's request for McElroy to take appropriate court action for authority to make the matter public.

McElroy said it was his inclination to present the request to Franklin County Common Pleas Court early next week.

When Judge Robert Draper dismissed the grand jury last Tuesday, he ordered records impounded by the sheriff who was instructed they would be available only to the attorney general and Prosecutor Earl Allison.

Meanwhile, Judge Draper said the governor would be in contempt of court if he releases the transcripts.

The judge imposed secrecy on the jurors at that time. Dismissal of the jury followed disclosure that the foreman had a long prison record which he had denied in his application to serve for the investigation.

The probe got under way Oct. 15 at DiSalle's request to investigate claims by a Chicago distiller that he paid to have his whiskey listed for sale in state liquor stores.

The governor did not elaborate on his assertion that some quarters opposed a public report on the grand jury proceedings.

Ohio Sailor Charged

BALTIMORE, (AP)—Four Navy enlisted men, including one Ohioan, have been charged with taking 13,000 pounds of meat from the Naval Air Station at Patuxent River near here. The Ohioan held is Roger W. Cooper, 20, of Williamsburg, Clermont County.

Route 22 were engulfed by hazardous conditions which either stopped traffic or made driving extremely treacherous.

Another storm aftermath was a long string of vehicle accidents throughout the area. However, no injuries were reported at noon today.

Moving at a fast pace last night, and yet today were local sheriff, police and State Highway Patrol officers. Reports of accidents, stalled vehicles and traffic tieups swarmed into their offices during the night.

ROUTE 23 near the city was almost a solid sheet of ice early today. However, highway crews continued working at a dogged pace to better the conditions.

State highway officials have requested that auto trips should be made only in case of emergency.

Road conditions were reported to be treacherous in all sections of the county. All state highways in this area are "impassable" with the exception of Routes 22, 23 and 104. Workers are attempting to keep the three primary roads open, although drifting snow makes the job impossible in many areas.

Circleville Police today were rerouting eastbound traffic at Route 22 to Route 40 via Route 23.

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of Circleville Schools, was out all night checking roads and highways. Quite a bit of this time was spent trying to get his stalled car out of a drift on Route 22. The directive to close schools today followed this ordeal.

Several pieces of State Highway Department equipment also were reported stuck during the night. Several employees spent the night at country homes.

Dozens of local employees were late for work today. Dozens more, living in nearby rural areas, couldn't make it at all.

Chins and mud and snow tires were at premium demand today. Many drivers reported having them, but low and behold, forgot to put them on.

Chief of Police Robert Temple requested all truck drivers stranded here to report their names, addresses and employers' names to the Circleville Police Department. Many trucking firms have called the local department inquiring about employees that may be stranded in the Circleville area.

Hearings Scheduled On Red Influence In Peace Groups

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities will hold hearings next week aimed at determining whether the Communist party is influencing groups organized to seek world peace.

The hearings will begin Tuesday and last three days.

Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., announcing the hearings, said they will deal specifically with a group known as Women Strike for Peace.

"It is with reluctance that the committee deemed it necessary to conduct hearings which touch upon alleged peace activities in this country," Walter said. "Unfortunately, the Communist conspiracy, through treachery and deceit, has established a long record of converting man's greatest dreams into tools for bringing about man's most tragic losses of dignity and freedom."

because of road conditions.

Chief Temple also advised truckers to give the location of their trucks to the officer on duty at the police station.

A Lake Shore bus was reported off old Route 23 yesterday just north of the city. No injuries were listed.

More Sessions Due Today on Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — With the strike against Cleveland's two major daily newspapers now in its second week, representatives of the publishers and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild scheduled a meeting this morning in another attempt to reach agreement on a new contract.

The Plain Dealer and the Cleveland Press and News have not published since delivery drivers of Teamsters Local 473 began picketing the two newspaper plants Thursday night, Nov. 29. The Guild joined the strike the following day.

Negotiating sessions between the Teamsters and management are in recess, subject to call. Sessions between the Teamsters and management and the Guild and management have been held periodically in the office of federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin.

The Guild announced prior to a general membership meeting Thursday night that it had received $50,000 from the American Newspaper Guilds defensive fund and that strike benefits for the first week would be distributed today.

Wages and working conditions are the chief issues in the disputes involving the Teamsters and the Guild.

Goodyear Gets Contract

Snow Is Termed Worst for Ohio In Dozen Years

No Relief Expected Before Late Tonight; High Wind Key Factor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The worst snowstorm in a dozen years crippled northeastern Ohio today. Up to a foot and a half of snow was on the ground in one area and the U.S. Weather Bureau said no relief was expected before late tonight.

The heavy snow delayed trains and buses, grounded planes, shut down at least 50 factories and closed virtually all schools in a wide area and caused hundreds of accidents.

The storm, moving into northern Ohio late Wednesday afternoon from the south, was powered this morning by winds of 30 to 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour. Temperature hovered near the freezing point.

The depth was not as great as in other snowstorms but the strong, biting winds piled up snow drifts as high as five feet.

Driving — where possible — was a nightmare. Hundreds of cars and trucks stalled, blocking practically all secondary roads. Bottle-necks at some Ohio Turnpike exits backed up traffic for six miles. Most drivers on the 24-mile toll road were not going faster than 20 miles an hour.

There were three storm-connected deaths in the Cleveland area. Some 30,000 customers of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company were without power, many since Thursday night. Snow-laden lines snapped and others were knocked down by high winds.

A CEI spokesman described the situation in the company's 117-square mile area as "a pretty bad mess." One hundred and thirty-four extra men were called in to assist 100 men who worked through the night. Additional crews were summoned from utility companies in Columbus, Toledo, Dayton and Canton.

The snowfall at 9 a. m. measured 18 inches at Novelty in Geauga County, with two to three-foot drifts. Canton - Akron had 10-11 inches and Ashland had 8 to 10 inches. Lorain, 9, and Youngstown 7.

Cleveland Hopkins Airport closed late Thursday night and a spokesman said this morning, "it'll be at least 10 hours before we can begin to open up our runways."

Traffic at the airport halted as drifting snow blocked runways and made roads leading to the field impassable.

As the snow continued to pile up and driving became more hazardous, many companies urged their employees to stay home. This was the case for the National Aeronautics Space Administration's huge facility on the West Side.

According to Cleveland Weather Bureau records, the heaviest snow fall on record was in November 1913, when 22.2 inches fell. In November 1950, a storm piled up 20.9 inches.

Forecaster Dave Bruce said it appeared now the storm would taper off to snow flurries late tonight. "Drifting will be the big headache after that," he added.

The worst snowstorm in 12 years in greater Cleveland meant a vacation from school for thousands of children, giving them a three-day weekend. The entire Cleveland public school system and all Catholic schools in the diocese were shut down. School systems in many of the Cleveland suburbs also canceled classes for the day as did schools in many other areas of Ohio.

Several thousand homes in greater Cleveland and some adjoining counties were without power, with the temperature dipping to the freezing mark. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. said snow pulled down feeder lines in several parts of the area. The company said the clog-

The worst snowstorm in a dozen years crippled northeastern Ohio today. Up to a foot and a half of snow was on the ground in one area and the U.S. Weather Bureau said no relief was expected before late tonight.

The heavy snow delayed trains and buses, grounded planes, shut down at least 50 factories and closed virtually all schools in a wide area and caused hundreds of accidents.

The storm, moving into northern Ohio late Wednesday afternoon from the south, was powered this morning by winds of 30 to 35 miles an hour, with gusts up to 50 miles an hour. Temperature hovered near the freezing point.

The depth was not as great as in other snowstorms but the strong, biting winds piled up snow drifts as high as five feet.

Driving — where possible — was a nightmare. Hundreds of cars and trucks stalled, blocking practically all secondary roads. Bottle-necks at some Ohio Turnpike exits backed up traffic for six miles. Most drivers on the 241-mile toll road were not going faster than 20 miles an hour.

There were three storm-connected deaths in the Cleveland area. Some 30,000 customers of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company were without power, many since Thursday night. Snow-laden lines snapped and others were knocked down by high winds.

A CEI spokesman described the situation in the company's 117-square mile area as "a pretty bad mess." One hundred and thirty-four extra men were called in to assist 100 men who worked through the night. Additional crews were summoned from utility companies in Columbus, Toledo, Dayton and Canton.

The snowfall at 9 a. m. measured 18 inches at Novity in Geauga County, with two to three-foot drifts. Canton - Akron had 11 inches and Ashland had 8 to 10 inches. Lorain, 9, and Youngstown 7.

Cleveland Hopkins Airport closed late Thursday night and a spokesman said this morning, "it'll be at least 10 hours before we can begin to open up our runways."

Traffic at the airport halted as drifting snow blocked runways and made roads leading to the field impassable.

As the snow continued to pile up and driving became more hazardous, many companies urged their employees to stay home. This was the case for the National Aeronautics Space Administration's huge facility on the West Side.

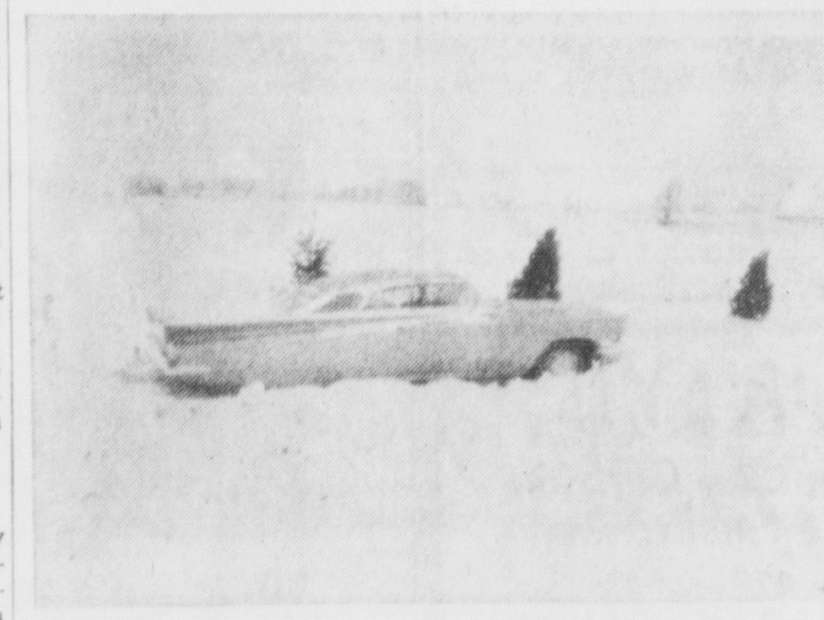

According to Cleveland Weather Bureau records, the heaviest snow fall on record was in November 1913, when 22.2 inches fell. In November 1950, a storm piled up 20.9 inches.

Forecaster Dave Bruce said it appeared now the storm would taper off to snow flurries late tonight. "Drifting will be the big headache after that," he added.

The worst snowstorm in 12 years in greater Cleveland meant a vacation from school for thousands of children, giving them a three-day weekend. The entire Cleveland public school system and all Catholic school in the diocese were shut down. School systems in many of the Cleveland suburbs also canceled classes for the day as did schools in many other areas of Ohio.

Several thousand homes in greater Cleveland and some adjoining counties were without power, with the temperature dipping to the freezing mark. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. said snow pulled down feeder lines in several parts of the area. The company said the clog-

JFK Starts 3-Day Trip

Top Nuclear Sites On Visiting Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy flew west on this Pearl Harbor anniversary to visit the command post and development sites for the swift and terrible nuclear response to any future attack.

The big presidential jet plane took off at 8:35 a.m. from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., heading first for Strategic Air Command headquarters near Omaha, Neb. Flight time was estimated at 2 hours and 25 minutes.

This was the first leg of a three-day trip that also will take the President to top-secret nuclear development and testing stations in New Mexico and Nevada.

Before returning to Washington Monday morning, the chief executive will spend a day and a half relaxing at Crooner Bing Crosby's home at Palm Desert, Calif.

Joining Kennedy for the military part of the tour were a dozen dignitaries including Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission, Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert and military chiefs of the armed services.

The timing of the trip to SAC headquarters at Offutt AFB was unusual on two counts: First, it coincided with the 21st anniversary of Japan's sneak attack on the Pearl Harbor naval base—the signal for American entry into World War II. Second, it came as SAC was preparing to place the first Minuteman intercontinental missiles in combat-ready status. The solid fuel Minuteman can carry a nuclear punch 6,300 miles. Eventually, 800 of these missiles will form the core of the nation's deterrent power.

The White House, announcing the trip, did not mention the Dec. 7 anniversary.

The official announcement said Kennedy's motive for the tour was a desire to see for himself the progress being made by "Project Rover" scientists who are working on a nuclear-powered rocket engine being developed at Los Alamos, N.M., and tested near Las Vegas, Nev.

If hopes for "Rover" are realized the engine may propel the first American to land on the moon.

On the schedule for Kennedy's 2 1/2-hour stay at Offutt were trips through subterranean command rooms, one containing the famous "red phone"—the wa. phone over which the President would have to give a direct order before SAC's bombers and missiles could unload their burden of nuclear terror on the homeland of an enemy.

Stray Missile Section Leads To Safety Procedure Survey

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Range safety procedures will be surveyed carefully as the result of a wrong-way runaway section of a Polaris missile which escaped destruction and landed in the Atlantic Ocean 150 miles east of Savannah, Ga.

"If that missile piece had headed inland instead of toward the wide open ocean," a source said, "the only thing we could have done would be to pray that it did not hit a populated area."

The Polaris began twisting wildly in the sky shortly after the second stage ignited during a test flight Thursday, and the range safety officer beamed a radio signal to destroy the missile.

However, a large section, still under power, escaped detonation and suddenly shifted from an intended southeast heading to a northeast direction.

After word of the wayward rocket leaked out, the Air Force admitted it landed in the sea 300 to 350 miles northeast of Cape Canaveral. There was no nuclear device aboard. The range safety officer reported, without elaboration, that the command destruct system had worked properly.

Sources said that apparently the missile was not properly wired for complete detonation.

The solid-fuel Polaris has caused range safety problems in the past. On an early test flight in 1958, the safety officer destroyed a Polaris when it went off course, but a large part of the second stage survived and landed inland. It barely missed a trailer camp in nearby Cocoa Beach before dropping into a river.

That flight resulted in placement of several dynamite destruct packages throughout solid propellant missiles, instead of only in key areas, so that the vehicles could be blown to bits if necessary.

The failure Thursday was another disappointing blow to the Navy's advanced Polaris A3 development program. The rocket now has failed six times in as many flights, five times because of trouble in the second stage.

the city. Streets closed were Nicholas Drive to Northridge Road, Morris Road and Atwater Ave. Ronald Sharrett, service director, said it was useless to plow the streets until the strong winds diminished. In the meantime, workers will spend their time sanding intersections in the city, he added.

MOST COUNTY roads are also listed as impassable. Efforts are being made to clear Kingston, Stoutsville and the Hayesville-Adelphi Roads, County Engineer Henry T. McCrady said.

Twenty-five minor accidents occurring in Circleville and Pickaway County yesterday and today were attributed to icy road conditions.

Pickaway County Sheriffs Deputies working 24-hour shifts investigated 13 accidents from noon yesterday until early this morning. No serious injuries were listed in any of the accidents due to the slow speed of vehicles on roads and highways.

Only one accident was listed in Circleville according to city police.

Ohio State Patrol headquarters here reported 10 accidents were investigated yesterday evening although none was serious.

All departments were flooded with calls from drivers whose trucks and autos went out of control and skidded into the ditch.

NORTHBOUND traffic on Route 23 was tied up for more than an hour early yesterday evening when two tractor-trailer units jackknifed and blocked both northbound lanes. One unit barricaded the highway about one-half mile north of County Road 511 and the other three miles north of South Bloomfield.

A Saltcreek Twp. school bus transporting about 30 students home from school was marooned in a snow drift on Route 56 near Leislerville. Parents arrived at the scene and took most students home. However, according to the sheriff's office, several students stayed all night at homes in the Leislerville area.

Students of city and county schools were treated to an unexpected holiday. All schools in both the city and county were closed due to the road conditions.

Basketball games scheduled for tonight have been cancelled. Official word on cancellation of the following games has been made: Logan Elm at Williamsport; Darby at Jackson; and Holy Family at Monroe.

The Circleville High School Tigers were to meet Greenfield tonight on the home court, but it also has been postponed. The game will be played at a later date in the season, according to Richard Snouffer, CHS principal.

An electrical power failure from 1 a. m. until 3 a. m. today added to the emergency status of the city. E. G. Parsons, manager of the local Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., said a main power line burned out in an alley between E. Main St. and Watt St. He attributed the cause to high winds that broke an insulator pin.

AREAS of the city without service were those north of Main St. to Pleasant St.

Don Colegrove, local manager of the General Telephone Co., today reported off-duty and former operators were called in to help handle the overloaded conditions.

"Because of the heavy long distance calling volume, delays were encountered by operators trying to reach distant cities and by local telephone users in reaching the operator," Colegrove stated.

At several points during the night and early hours today, operators were instructed to handle emergency calls only, Colegrove added.

Police Quiet About Leads on Bank Robbery

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police were mum about leads in the $39,500 bank robbery Thursday, but indications were they want to question a former Cincinnati.

Two men wearing hooded parkas forced a housewife to accompany them as hostage in the quick, efficient robbery of the White Oak branch of the Southern Ohio National Bank.

The housewife, Mrs. Robert J. Carle, 32, said she was taken along at gunpoint after offering to help one man who knocked at her front door and said he was out of gas.

Mrs. Carle had left her two children, age 3 and 6, at home. The bandit took her in her car, picked up his partner and then went to the bank.

Five employees and a customer were forced to sit on the bank floor, while the manager, James Harris, 30, with a gunman menacing him, was required to clean out the vault cash reserves into a pillowcase.

Mrs. Carle was allowed to leave the car in an isolated area after the robbery, and the auto was found abandoned a few miles further.

There was no indication whether officers tracked down the unidentified man sought for questioning.

Mrs. Carle, who commented the bandit who stopped at her home was polite but firm, said, "I read about it and I've seen it on television, but I never thought it would happen to me."

"I never had such a frightening experience in my life."

CLEVELAND (AP) — John M. Graean Jr., 38, of Youngstown was to be sentenced by U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. Battisti today on four counts of possessing more than $12,000 worth of stolen property from interstate shipments.

Graean was convicted Nov. 6. He faces fines of up to $20,000 and sentence of up to 35 years in prison. He is being held in lieu of $30,000 bond.

The stolen goods were found in a garage and in a warehouse rented by Graean.

Agents said $5,000 worth of stolen steel bars also were found in a lot in Youngstown. The goods had been stolen from Pittsburgh and Beaver Falls, Pa., and from North Lima, Ohio.

Family Service Association of offices in Cuyahoga, Lake and Geauga counties also were closed.

The U. S. Weather Bureau in Cleveland said Northeast Ohio would have more snow today, with an additional accumulation of two to five inches general over the area and up to eight inches additional in the higher terrain inland from Lake Erie.

Traffic jams developed during the rush hour Thursday night in Cleveland and Akron, but no major accidents were reported.

Noted 'Day of Infamy' Quiet, Without Ceremony at Pearl

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —The "Day of Infamy" was marked quietly and without ceremony today while the Navy at Pearl Harbor turned its attention to sports.

On Ford island, less than a mile from the black-scarred coast where the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941, was centered, a nine-hole golf course was dedicated. A boxing program at Bloch Gymnasium, across the water from the sunken hulk of the USS Arizona, featured five amateur Japanese fighters.

There was no official recognition of the 21st anniversary of the darkest moment in U.S. naval history.

A small boat shuttled between the shore and the memorial, as it has done daily since last Memorial Day when the shrine was completed. A Navy official said larger-than-usual crowds were expected to make the trip. Otherwise activity in the busy harbor was normal.

Veterans groups, other patriotic organizations and individuals planned to take flowers to honor the 1,102 men entombed in the Arizona.

Although it has done so in other years, the Navy scheduled no speeches or ceremonies above the battleship. A new policy of the Navy Department specifies that tributes to the dead of battle may be held only on Memorial Day.

The American Flag was raised over the Arizona at dawn—a daily ritual. The Arizona is considered still in commission by the Navy because her crew is aboard. Giant aircraft carriers, nuclear submarines and other modern warships pipe a salute as they move by her "berth."

The carrier Constellation—largest in the Pacific—stood alongside the Arizona Thursday and 4,000 members of her crew lined the deck to pay homage to the fallen warship.

The Arizona Memorial honors all dead of the Japanese attack. A total of 2,403 men perished in the terrible moments of a Sunday morning that marked America's entry into World War II. The Arizona died eight minutes after taking a bomb down her stack.

Four battleships were sunk, one was heavily damaged and three sustained light damage. Six—California, Maryland, Nevada, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and West Virginia—returned to carry the war to Japan. Only the Arizona and the Oklahoma, which sank while being towed to the West Coast, ended their battles at Pearl Harbor.

A former battleship, the target vessel Utah, was sent to the bottom in the attack. The Utah's rusting hulk still rests in the mud, a tomb for 54 men.

The American Flag was raised over the Arizona at dawn—a daily ritual. The Arizona is considered still in commission by the Navy because her crew is aboard. Giant aircraft carriers, nuclear submarines and other modern warships pipe a salute as they move by her "berth."

The carrier Constellation—larger, in the Pacific—stood alongside the Arizona Thursday and 4,000 members of her crew lined the deck to pay homage to the fallen warship.

The Arizona Memorial honors all dead of the Japanese attack. A total of 2,403 men perished in the terrible moments of a Sunday morning that marked America's entry into World War II. The Arizona died eight minutes after taking a bomb down her stack.

Four battleships were sunk, one was heavily damaged and three sustained light damage. Six—California, Maryland, Nevada, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and West Virginia—returned to carry the war to Japan. Only the Arizona and the Oklahoma, which sank while being towed to the West Coast, ended their battles at Pearl Harbor.

A former battleship, the target vessel Utah, was sent to the bottom in the attack. The Utah's rusting hulk still rests in the mud, a tomb for 54 men.

He Liked Public Service

No public official in any part of the country is comparable to Robert Moses in his devoted and unending and mostly uncompensated public service for nearly half a century. Of the Al Smith tradition, Moses regarded public service as a career and he gathered about him able executives who built for New York City a superb park system, for New York State a beautiful and useful parkway system and for the St. Lawrence River, a power utility. He also manages the Triborough Bridge Authority and the New York World's Fair. He once held 11 jobs but a salary only for one.

At 73, Robert Moses can do more of a day's work than most and Governor Nelson Rockefeller's plea, on dismissing Moses from one position, that Moses was overloaded is nonsense. The fact is that Rockefeller wants Moses's job on the Park Council for his brother, Laurence, who is also overloaded with numerous real estate and other business operations. The Rockefeller must be jealous of the Kennedy's, but that is no excuse for asking a competent, efficient, honored public servant to resign in favor of nepotism.

There is no criticism of Laurence Rockefeller. He has been Vice President of the New York State Park Council, appointed by Governor Lehman long before Nelson Rockefeller became Governor. There must be criticism of the Governor's bad manners, his ineptitude in proposing that Moses resign to give his brother a chance to shine in the public eye. It was absurd of the Governor to propose that when Moses resigned his numerous state jobs, he say nothing to the press on the subject. Moses's reply, I cannot ask anyone to print. It was explosive, direct and to the point. It was an older and more experienced man talking to a youngster in the toolshed. I saw Bob Moses several hours later and his eyes were still blazing. He was not acting as a cover for anyone.

The significance of all this is that it adds to the political turmoil in New York State and leaves Governor Rockefeller's chances of running for the Presidency on the Republican ticket more uncertain. No man can be trusted with major affairs who asks such a man as Robert Moses to resign so that his brother might bask in the bloom of another's achievements. It indicates a political instability that is dangerous in times like these.

There also can be no doubt that Senator Jacob Javits's large vote in the 1962 election, compared to Rockefeller's smaller vote, both running against inconsequential opponents, cut Nelson Rockefeller to the quick. That vote was a political set-back. True, Rockefeller has a frightfully insignificant speech - writing organization, whereas Javits rolled his own, as it were, but there were many other factors in the situation which turned the New York State voter against him, whether Republican or Democrat.

Since the Election, Rockefeller has been remote from the public.

By George Sokolsky

Announcing himself as a candidate for the Presidency in 1964, prematurely, and advising Republicans to go slow, he stirs the embers of the conservative fire in both New York State and California. The Conservatives are not likely to accept Rockefeller, even if he were willing to take Barry Goldwater for Vice President. On the other hand, some non-political persons, carried away by the size of the Javits vote for Senator, are already mentioning him for Vice President which will stir up very ugly opposition in many parts of the country and a rampage of antagonism from Governor Nelson Rockefeller. In a word, the pot is boiling in these parts and turning out a very smelly stew. From it, nothing good can come to Rockefeller.

It is curious, in American politics, how minor incidents take on national significance. Governor Nelson Rockefeller has groomed himself for the Presidency, preparing for it since the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt. He has met with some measure of success in New York State, but generally, the American people do not know him and have not been particularly impressed by his personality which is strictly cosmopolitan New York. He has, on the whole been a competent Governor of New York State, but not a beloved one, as, for instance, Al Smith was. His personality is pleasant but cold; he lacks the vibrant humanity of John F. Kennedy.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam also is puzzled by teen-agers just as their parents sometimes are. Specifically the puzzle is why so many youngsters suddenly went job hunting.

This pushed the unemployment rate up in November to equal its old 1962 high of 5.8 per cent of the labor force. About the same number of men and women were out of work as the month before, but the number of teen-age males looking in vain for jobs rose by 100,000 or more. Of the total of that age group now in the labor force, 15.2 per cent are on the outside looking in.

One explanation could be that the number of dropouts from school increased by that amount.

Fat Man's Finest Hour

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Now is the fat man's finest hour.

A fat man leads a mixed-up life in our calorie-conscious civilization.

For five weeks a year he is a hero—the king of the hill. The rest of the year he is a dumpy clown, a figure—an over-sized figure—of ridicule to his skinny inferiors.

This is the season—between Thanksgiving Day and New Year—that separates the fat men from the lean boys.

This is the brief season when everybody truly loves a fat man because he looks like those two symbols of harvest and human kindness—the pumpkin and Santa Claus.

It makes everybody happy even to see a fat man come over their horizon like a waddling cloud. He is in the flesh so perfect an image of the joyous spirit of the time.

Even strangers come up to the fat man and poke a playful finger in his chubby stomach and say things like:

"There's a lot of good living in there, eh?"

"Better than money in the bank, isn't it?"

"Well, you're at least one fellow who can take it with him, aren't you?"

The fat man is inundated with invitations to seasonal festivities of every kind. For what kind of a party is it around Christmas that doesn't have a jolly fat man there, booming with laughter?

It makes other people feel good just to see the fat man eat and drink—living life up the way mankind feels it ought to all year round in a feast of endless plenty.

Unused to appreciation, the fat man falls for this accolade like a hungry kid turned loose in a store full of all-day suckers.

He bellies up to the wassail bowl and drinks mightily. He spills more calories on his necktie at lunch than the average man consumes in a day. He buffers the buffet for a third huge helping as the other guests gaily urge him on with remarks like, "Come on, have another piece of mince pie," and "My, doesn't it to your soul good to see someone get such real pleasure out of living?"

On New Year's Day, facing a mountain of unpaid bills and worn out by intemperate indulgence, people suddenly weary of Santa Claus and the holiday mood.

Of the total of that age group now in the labor force, 15.2 per cent are on the outside looking in.

One explanation could be that the number of dropouts from school increased by that amount.

Government officials, educators, and business executives have joined parents in warning youngsters that the changing U.S. economy makes it steadily harder for the unskilled to find work.

The number of jobs open to those without a high school diploma is dropping. In this technical age, the percentage of jobs open to those without a college degree is smaller than it used to be in the Horatio Alger era. And more and more a masters degree is becoming an asset for finding the more desirable positions.

Drives to keep teen-agers in school are being redoubled, and the latest experience of the 100,000 who couldn't find work may add point to it.

But the monthly employment figures themselves increasingly puzzle the experts. Like many statistics, the figures at best are educated guesses. They are approximations, based on samplings taken at various points of a limited number of households. The samplings, like most polls, are expanded to approximate the population figures, and are adjusted to allow for the usual seasonal variations.

Even so, they frequently come up with surprises. Late last summer the jobless rate jumped when the expectation had been it would drop. Officials then said the trouble was women. A lot of them reported they wanted to work but didn't have a job.

Officials said this was temporary. In a month or so, they said, most of these women would be happily, or unhappily, employed in the nation's classrooms.

And perhaps that's what came to pass.

The unemployment figures are closely watched at all times. This year they have commanded special attention because all efforts to drop the percentage of unemployment have been blunted by the steady rise in the labor force. ber of teen-agers come in—and And that's where the large number will continue to be felt in the years just ahead.

NEW YORK (AP)—Now is the fat man's finest hour.

A fat man leads a mixed-up life in our calorie-conscious civilization.

For five weeks a year he is a hero—the king of the hill. The rest of the year he is a dumpy clown, a figure—an over-sized figure—of ridicule to his skinny inferiors.

This is the season—between Thanksgiving Day and New Year—that separates the fat men from the lean boys.

This is the brief season when everybody truly loves a fat man because he looks like those two symbols of harvest and human kindness—the pumpkin and Santa Claus.

It makes everybody happy even to see a fat man come over their horizon like a waddling cloud. He is in the flesh so perfect an image of the joyous spirit of the time.

Even strangers come up to the fat man and poke a playful finger in his chubby stomach and say things like:

"There's a lot of good living in there, eh?"

"Better than money in the bank, isn't it?"

"Well, you're at least one fellow who can take it with him, aren't you?"

The fat man is inundated with invitations to seasonal festivities of every kind. He becomes the life of every party. For what kind of a party is it around Christmas that doesn't have a jolly fat man there, booming with laughter?

It makes other people feel good just to see the fat man eat and drink—living life up the way mankind feels it ought to be in any round in a feast of endless plenty.

Unused to appreciation, the fat man falls for this accolade like a hungry kid turned loose in a store full of all-day suckers.

He bellies up to the wassail bowl and drinks mightily. He spills more calories on his necktie at lunch than the average man consumes in a day. He buffers the buffet for a third huge helping as the other guests gaily urge him on with remarks like, "Come on, have another piece of mince pie," and "My, doesn't it to your soul good to see someone get such real pleasure out of living?"

On New Year's Day, facing a mountain of unpaid bills and worn out by interperate indulgence, people suddenly weary of Santa Claus and the holiday mood.

And who do they turn on? Why, the fat man. They blame him for their own orgies. He becomes the scapegoat for all.

They point scornful fingers at the bounteous stomach they so lately praised and say: "Ugh!"

All at once nobody loves the fat man. He doesn't have a friend in the world, not even himself. And all he did was try to please a fickle public.

So enjoy yourself now, fat man—it won't last!

St. Joseph's Altar Society Sees Slides of Trip to Rome

Color slides of an exciting trip to Rome, Italy, highlighted the regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening of the St. Joseph Catholic Church Altar and Rosary Society.

Mrs. Alma Ellis, housekeeper of St. Joseph's Parish House, was a member of the group in Columbus Diocese Pilgrimage to Rome this fall. Approximately 150 persons enjoyed this 18-day conducted tour including Catholic Bishops enroute to the Ecumenical Council at the Vatican in Rome.

Mrs. Ellis introduced Miss Joan Delewese and Miss Lida Delewese of Columbus who showed color slides and presented commentaries of the tour. Slides were also shown of a visit to historical buildings in Rome, and The Vatican, Venice, Switzerland, Vienna, Paris, England and Ireland which were included in the itinerary of the trip abroad.

Add Beauty To Decor With Ferns

By ELEANOR ROSS

Ferns are back in style. You can't pick up a magazine these days without noticing how ferns play a big part in the interior decorating scheme.

The reason is, they're graceful, easy to grow and adaptable.

How handsome the beautiful green ferns look in the red clay pots in which growers plant them! And how good it is that these containers fit so well with modern or period decor.

Ferns are easy to grow if their simple needs are kept in mind. They prefer a temperature most houses offer in winter and early spring.

Come summer and the ferns move outdoors to the porch, patio or terrace, or you can sink them, pot and all, in garden beds under a tree in a spot where they'll be protected from wind so that their delicate fronds won't be torn or broken.

Many ferns come from rain forests and this gives a clue to their preferences. They like half shade. If the window you have for them is too sunny, filter the light through a thin net curtain.

The soil mixture should be of fine sand, loam and leaf mold or peat moss. You can buy prepared soil in plastic bags if you aren't too keen about mixing your own.

Ferns need a lot of moisture, but they must never have muddy soil from over-generous watering. Apply enough water at the rim of the pot so that excess water runs freely from the drainage hole.

Any water that collects in the saucer should be spilled out after half an hour. This half hour gives the pot walls a chance to absorb water like a blotter and to act as a moisture buffer between the outer air and the soil in the pot—a sort of safety reservoir.

Ferns like moist air, which may be provided in part by spraying the foliage every day with a fine syringe.

Select ferns for the house from kinds that do well under indoor conditions. Among these are the holly fern which has dark green, feathery fronds that look somewhat like holiday holly.

Boston fern is the largest of these and perhaps the best known. Under good care, its graceful light green fronds will grow to large size.

Ferns have few troubles and are almost insect-free. When a rare pest does appear, it will probably be a mealy bug, which resembles a little fleck of cotton. This usually settles in the leaf and can be taken out with a toothpick with a wad of cotton soaked in nicotine sulphate and soap solution.

The brown specks which appear on the undersurface of the leaves are spore cases, the fern's way of propagation.

Many of the small ferns are ideal for dish gardens and terrariums. Their small clay pots can be submerged in sand or gravel to help keep the soil moist.

Try these along with some of the maidenhair ferns in a glass globe for a sphere of tropical beauty.

'She'd never hurt a soul,' declared Mr. Shnoo.

sorry for what he had done. He carried the cub all the way back to his own land and gave her to Mr. Shnoo.

"He's a runt and she's sickly," said the hunter. "But maybe she'll have a chance with you."

Mr. Shnoo fell in love with the little brown bear. He called her Honeybun. He kept her in his room and gave her milk from a bottle every three hours. He kept hot water bottles in her bed and gave her cod liver oil and vitamins. Most importantly, he gave her lots of T.L.C., which is a prescription for Tender, Loving Care.

Honeybun thrived. She was always a runt but she was the liveliest runt anyone ever saw. After a few months she was so lively she was moved to the caves with the big bears.

Everyone loved her. She was such a show-off. She would stand on her hind legs and clap her paws and make funny faces. Little children saved all their peanuts to throw to Honeybun. The bear would stand there making faces and putting on a regular circus until the children had thrown in all their peanuts. She knew exactly when the bags were emptied and no more peanuts coming. Then she would sweep up all the nuts from the ground and have a feast. She never lost a nut no matter where it landed.

Once a little girl squeezed between the bars of the cage and ran up to Honeybun, waving a vanilla ice cream cone. Everyone screamed and the keeper went leaping over the fence waving a stick.

They need not have become so excited. Honeybun simply licked the ice cream off the cone. Then she licked the little girl's mouth where some ice cream was sticking. Then she yawned and lay down for a nap.

After that, they sometimes let children lead Honeybun around the zoo on a chain. Sometimes little children even rode on her back. "She's never hurt a soul," declared Mr. Shnoo.

But now someone had hurt Honeybun. She came tottering out of her cave holding her paws over her mouth and growling deep in her throat.

"Something's stuck in her mouth," said Mr. Shnoo. He climbed the fence and put his arm around Honeybun's neck. Honeybun dropped to all fours and stood shaking her head, moaning and rolling her eyes. Mr. Shnoo put his hands on her muzzle and gently opened her jaws.

All Honeybun's teeth were gone!

Santa followed Mr. Shnoo over the fence. He picked up something from the ground. "Look! A firecracker!"

Now it was all clear. Someone had given Honeybun a firecracker instead of a peanut and the firecracker had gone off in the poor bear's mouth and blown out all her teeth.

Honeybun's roar of pain had been heard all over the zoo and attendants and office workers and the animal doctor gathered at the cave.

"Do something!" Mr. Shnoo begged the doctor. "She's in terrible pain."

The doctor examined Honeybun and shook his head. "Better put her to sleep," he said. "Without teeth she can never eat again. She'd starve by and by."

Santa stepped forward and said, "I think I can help her." Crookshank was standing there with the rest and he said, "Whoever you are you're better move on. You heard what the doctor said and he ought to know."

The others muttered among themselves saying, "Why not let him try?" And Mr. Shnoo took Santa's arm and said, "Please! Do what you can."

"Very well," said Santa. "But I can't do it here."

He tied a rope around Honeybun's neck and led her away. Mr. Shnoo watched until they had almost disappeared. Then he went running after them crying, "Wait for me! Wait for me!"

Skybolt Missile Plan May End

Five Test Flops Point To Pentagon Disfavor

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trouble-plagued Skybolt, an air-launched missile that gave the manned bomber hope for longer life, may be headed for the discard.

A final decision has not been made. But informed sources say that as of now Defense Department budget drafters are not planning to allot money for the 1,000-mile-range missile next year.

These sources said the project is in serious trouble—and not only because the Skybolt has suffered five test flops in a row.

It was reported the Skybolt has lost favor with top Pentagon officials.

They were said to have come around to the view that by the time it is ready in any numbers the pre-eminent role in U.S. nuclear striking power will have been assumed by the Polaris submarine-launched missiles and intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Air Force has been aiming to get the Skybolt combat-ready by October 1964. But the dismal test record so far may have pushed the operational date farther down the road.

About $650 million has been spent or allocated for the Skybolt, which the Douglas Aircraft Co. has been developing for the Air Force since 1959.

The concept calls for about 300 advance model B52 jet bombers to carry two nuclear-tipped Skybolts under each wing.

Instead of having to go over their targets, the B52s would be able to stand off about 1,000 miles and strike at an enemy with Skybolts.

The Air Force insists the Skybolt is a promising weapon, worth the investment.

Earlier this week, it said development of the Skybolt is on schedule, despite test failures. It contended such setbacks are to be expected during work on new missile systems.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Near blizzard conditions prevailed over Ohio Thursday night as strong winds of 25 to 40 miles an hour whipped falling snow into deep drifts.

Temperatures remained below the freezing mark over the state during the night.

Snow depths were in excess of 10 inches in the northeastern counties by midnight, with Akron reporting 10 inches and Youngstown and Cleveland 6 inches.

Temperatures early today ranged from 23 at Dayton to 32 at Cleveland.

The storm causing the severe weather has been centered over Western New York since Thursday and will again cause snow and strong winds over Ohio today. Slow, northeastward movement of the storm will taper the snow off to flurries over Ohio by tonight and Saturday. Winds will diminish some Saturday.

Temperatures will continue mostly below freezing.

Warm Greeting Is Highlight Of Jack, Adlai Public Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai Stevenson and President Kennedy, meeting in public for the first time since the tempest over the U.N. ambassador's role in the Cuban crisis, shook hands warmly Thursday night.

Stevenson, quick as ever with a quip, introduced Kennedy as "the author, producer, director and star of Mr. Khrushchev's new hit play in Moscow—'A Funny Thing Happened to Me on My Way to Cuba'."

Stevenson said he was "proud to be a member of the supporting cast."

The occasion of their meeting was the Kennedy Foundation awards dinner where the President handed checks to four foreign scientists for work against mental retardation.

In the background were echoes of the clamor set off this week by a magazine article—co-authored by a close friend of the President—which portrayed Stevenson as having advocated a soft line in the Cuban crisis.

The article set off speculation that someone in the administration was "out to get Adlai." Apparently in an effort to still the talk, the President made public a letter Wednesday expressing his "fullest confidence" in Stevenson.

Thursday night, presiding at the dinner, Stevenson received a standing ovation.

Stevenson remarked that the United Nations may soon be crying for peace "and I have been crying for it in the past week."

"But despite what has happened," Stevenson added, "I am convinced that most of the press of this country follows Joseph Pulitzer's remark that accuracy is to a newspaper what virtue is to a woman—except, as someone has pointed out, a newspaper can always print a retraction."

Stevenson previously had denounced the Saturday Evening Post article as inaccurate and a gross misrepresentation of his position.

The story, written by Washington newsmen Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, a close Kennedy friend, quoted anonymous but apparently high ranking officials as saying Stevenson dissented from Kennedy's decision to set up a naval blockade around Cuba and advocated a diplomatic approach.

In his talk Thursday night, Kennedy made no mention of the Cuban crisis.

Buckeye Unit Is Mustered For Map War

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although it has been 21 years since Pearl Harbor, Columbus will be in the midst of another war this weekend—a battle involving about 900 officers and men of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division.

The National Guardsmen from all over the state will converge on the capital city Saturday for a continuous 24-hour map war—reported to be the first such exercise ever conducted by a reserve component division.

Using its top staff officers, the 37th will split into two mythical divisions which will wage a battle against each other all Saturday night.

The exercise will utilize all three National Guard installations here.

Mrs. Gen. Loren G. Windom, commander of the 37th, will direct the entire operation with the assistant 37th commander, Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Eagon, commanding one of the mythical divisions and Brig. Gen. Wilbur Fricke of Waynesburg, the division artillery commander, in charge of the other group.

Embezzlement Case Ends in Hung Jury

LISBON, Ohio (AP) — Columbiana County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw says he plans to set a new trial for Roberta C. Smith, 40, whose embezzlement trial ended in a hung jury.

Miss Smith went on trial Nov. 26 on a charge of embezzling $23,841 from the East Liverpool City Water Department where she was a clerk. The jury began deliberations Wednesday and told Judge Joel H. Sharp Thursday it was unable to reach a verdict.

Miss Smith testified during the trial that she juggled accounts to cover shortages she said had occurred earlier.

Brokaw said he will study the trial transcript before setting a date for a new trial.

Driver Is Killed

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Henry C. Hart, a salesman from Grove City, Columbus suburb, died Thursday when a tractor-trailer rig turned over on his car after the two had collided on Ohio 31 north of here.

Welfare Dept. Lists November Case Load

Pauline Rosese, director of the Pickaway County Welfare Department announced today that relief assistance during November totaled $23,873.06.

During the month the Welfare Department made payment in 351 cases, including 25 cases in aid to the blind, 60 in aid for disabled, 122 in aid to dependent children and 144 cases in general relief; $11,842 went to aid for dependent children.

General Relief case load in November of 1961 was 173 cases or 29 more than this year. Miss Rosese attributed a part of this decrease to the generally balmy weather during November, noting that more work is available when the weather is clement.

Of the 144 general relief cases, 12 of them received medical assistance only. General relief payments totaled 6,364.06.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—What has changed since Pearl Harbor, 21 years ago today, the length of time in which a human being is supposed to come to maturity?

In those 21 years man has had some moments of isolated splendor.

He shook the pull of earth and soared into space. He stood on the threshold of the unknown: a journey to the moon. He made great progress against forces that shorten his life, like disease.

Yet, his life became more uncertain than ever.

His primitive inability to work out reasonably a peaceful existence on this limited earth didn't improve. His deep hostilities toward his neighbor haven't changed. They just took new directions.

These have been a distressed, distracted, groping 21 years.

They have been so full of talk of war, fear of war and war itself, of invasions, killings, tyrannies, treacheries and assassinations man seemed to learn nothing from the massacres that ended temporarily in 1945.

The examples come to mind easily enough: war in Korea, China, India, Viet Nam, Laos, North Africa, the British-French-Israeli invasion of Egypt, the assassinations in Algeria, revolutions in slaughter in the Congo, Moslem-Hindu bloodbaths, the American-Russian missile crisis in Cuba.

To us, involved in the daily doings, this may have seemed like a time of motion.

But historians, looking back 500 years from now, may conclude the only real change in these 21 years in man's dealing with man was his discovery of how better to make war worse.

World War II produced rockets and atomic bombs. All man had to do then was learn how to attach the bombs to the rockets. He learned easily and made previous wars look old-fashioned and humane.

While this had a frightening effect on man for obvious reasons—the more the number of nations with the bomb, the less every body's life expectancy — it didn't deter him a moment.

He went on making bigger bombs as if hypnotized by fright into thinking that if he frightened himself enough he'd become too frightened to use what frightened him.

To future generations, if there are any, this may look like simple jungle witchcraft, especially since man is now so deep in his own atomic trance he has been unable to come out of it.

But to mankind today it all seems so normal and practical that he is pouring into bombs he hopes he never uses vast resources and treasure which, if employed for the good of mankind, could make life better and richer.

Historians may decide World War II didn't change things basically but only rearranged them in a way just as grisly.

By eliminating Nazism-Fascism as a third and ambitious word force, it quickened the inevitable confrontation between the western and Communist concept of life and progress.

The war didn't lessen this problem. It intensified it. Communism, which was limited to Russia and felt held within its borders, expanded jubilantly after the war in Europe and Asia.

As part of the rearrangements of World War II, old enemies became new allies, old allies became new enemies.

The deep roots of ancient agonies remain as fresh as ever: racial and religious hate, national cupidities, enormous chasms between rich and poor around the world, intolerance, and even new nationalisms.

The old colonial powers, stretched on the rack of poverty, had to disgorge their possessions in Asia and Africa. Hundreds of millions of people have freedom, or freedom of a kind, at last.

They're still struggling to learn how to use it. When they increase in strength, and in their ambitions and conflicts, there will be new problems undreamed of now. Europe, the product of need, that nations may be beginning to work together in order to live a little longer. This is only in its formative stage.

Perhaps in time, around the world, man, out of need and fear, will choose to live peacefully for reasons of common sense. He has not shown much of it in the past 21 years.

Eternal Life

THE NATURE AND SOURCE OF ETERNAL LIFE, AND SOME CONSEQUENCES OF SUCH A GIFT

Scripture—John 14:1-3; 17:1-3; Romans 6:4-8; 1 Corinthians 15:3-28; 1 Peter 1:3-9; 1 John 5:11-13.

By N. SPEER JONES

WHAT IS eternal life? How can we come by it? These are the basic questions of belief we find outlined in this week's lesson.

The promise of eternal life is given in the opening verses from the fourteenth chapter of John, wherein he quotes Christ's words a few hours before His crucifixion. Christ realizes that His saddened and perplexed disciples will be then even more demoralized. Therefore He orders them, in the imperative voice, not to let their hearts be troubled. The assurance of why they need not worry comes in the next two phrases—"believe in God, believe also in Me." Even though—and in fact, because of the fact that—Christ is going to suffer and die, He is and will be always the Savior. The phrase, "My Father's house" previously referred to all of God, but he can realize that fact.

Bishop Westcott helps us define eternal life as follows: "Eternal life is a life which with all its fullness and all its potencies is now; a life which extends beyond the limits of the individual, and preserves, completes, crowns individuality by placing the past in connection with the whole; a life which satisfies while it quickens aspiration; a life . . . capable of conquering, reconciling, uniting the rebellious, discordant, broken elements of being on which we look . . . a life which gives unity . . ." ("Peloubet's," p. 459).

In Paul's letter to the Romans, he outlines the Christian's position in regard to sin and life (Chapter 6:4-10), his responsibility to "reckon," "let not sin reign," and "present (himself) to God" (vs. 11-14) and the old life contrasted with God's temple in Jerusalem. Now it no longer means that or any known dominion of God. The word "mansion" comes from the same word as the word "remain," meaning to abide—in a permanent sense.

J. Ritchie Smith (in "Peloubet's Select Notes," p. 461) speaks of John's thinking of three comings of Christ—"in the flesh, to make atonement for sin; in the Spirit, to apply the benefits of His atonement; in glory, to judge the world."

In his seventeenth chapter, John gives us a definition by Christ of eternal life. "And this is life eternal, that they should know Thee the only true God, and Him Whom Thou didst send, even Jesus Christ." This life is God's gift to man, whereby he is saved. It is divine and limitless. It is the equivalent of knowledge; it enables man to understand the fact of God. He cannot hope to understand the new, eternal life (vs. 15-23). Paul makes the interesting point that those who are free in regard to righteousness are the servants of sin; every good thing brings its responsibilities. But the reward of sin is death. Eternal life, however, is not the reward of anything; it cannot be earned by man, for it is the free gift of God.

In the assigned passage from his letter to the Corinthians, Paul indicates the certainty of Christ's resurrection (verses 5-11), its necessity (vs. 12-19) and its implications (vs. 20-28). Death came with man; eternal life came with the new man, through Christ.

The verses from Peter's letter represent a hymn of praise to God for His great gift.

The lesson concludes with another assurance of this gift of eternal life, to those who believe in Christ.

Red Guards Take Teasing

Long Haul to Berlin Filled With Fun for Truck Drivers

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—At the frontier to East Germany, a Communist border guard sat on a roll of barbed wire, his automatic rifle resting on his knees.

A ruddy West German truck driver pulled up on his way to Berlin, threw open his window and cracked: "Hey, sonny, doesn't it tickle?"

The East German policeman reddened. He stood up violently and thrust his rifle toward the West German driver.

"Ach," said the truck driver without lowering his voice. "We've got to teach them first what humor is. They haven't got any."

The long-haul truck drivers between West Germany and West Berlin must stop at Communist controls to have their freight checked.

It is often a long process. Every day hundreds of truckers have to undergo tiresome Communist examination of their papers and cargoes. They often amuse themselves at the expense of the Communist police.

Another truck from West Germany roared up and the driver clambered out of his cab.

"Man look at that baby," he said as a girl in a gray Communist uniform approached. And then loudly: "Na ja, sister—pretty girls don't belong on customs ramps."

The girl ignored him, but a few minutes later she fled in anger. The truck driver's partner had awakened from his sleep, stepped to the ground and pinched her.

An irate Communist officer came out of the door through which the girl had disappeared. He wagged his finger in warning at the truckers.

Some yards away, another group of West German truckers loitered around vehicles being inspected by the East German guards.

A young East German in glasses was sounding off: "In a capitalistic country like West Germany, the workers always suffer. Our workers are luckier than you."

He glared at one truck bringing chocolate to West Berlin.

"We don't need Western influence, propaganda and chocolate from you," he said.

Snapped one of the West German drivers: "Be quiet. We don't want to listen to you. We have to stand here all the time having our papers checked and we don't have to listen to your political nonsense too."

A third truck driver joined the attack on the young East German. "Your slogans about all you happy men—keep them for yourself. You tell me what you really think, and I'll see if I can't smuggle you back with us to the West."

The agitator stared at them. He looked startled and flushed as if his secret thoughts had been tapped and brought out to the open.

"But comrades . . ." he began. The truckers laughed in his face, went to their cabs and turned on their motors.

Red Guards Take Teasing

Long Haul to Berlin Filled With Fun for Truck Drivers

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—At the frontier to East Germany, a Communist border guard sat on a roll of barbed wire, his automatic rifle resting on his knees.

A ruddy West German truck driver pulled up on his way to Berlin, threw open his window and cracked: "Hey, sonny, doesn't it tickle?"

The East German policeman reddened. He stood up violently and thrust his rifle toward the West German driver.

"Ach," said the truck driver without lowering his voice. "We've got to teach them first what humor is. They haven't got any."

The long-haul truck drivers between West Germany and West Berlin must stop at Communist controls to have their freight checked.

It is often a long process. Every day hundreds of trucks have to undergo tiresome Communist examination of their papers and cargoes. They often amuse themselves at the expense of the Communist police.

Another truck from West Germany roared up and the driver clambered out of his cab.

"Man look at that baby," he said as a girl in a gray Communist uniform approached. And then loudly: "Na ja, sister—pretty girls don't belong on customs ramps."

The girl ignored him, but a few minutes later she fled in anger. The truck driver's partner had awakened from his sleep, stepped to the ground and pinched her.

An irate Communist officer came out of the door through which the girl had disappeared. He wagged his finger in warning at the truckers.

Some yards away, another group of West German truckers loitered around vehicles being inspected by the East German guards.

A young East German in glasses was sounding off: "In a capitalist country like West Germany, the workers always suffer. Our workers are luckier than you."

He glared at one truck bringing chocolate to West Berlin.

"We don't need Western influence, propaganda and chocolate from you," he said. Snapped one of the West German drivers: "Be quiet. We don't want to listen to you. We have to stand here all the time having our papers checked and we don't have to listen to your political nonsense too."

A third truck driver joined the attack on the young East German: "Your slogans about all you happy men—keep them for yourself. You tell me what you really think, and I'll see if I can't smuggle you back with us to the West."

The agitator stared at them. He looked startled and flushed as if his secret thoughts had been tapped and brought out to the open.

"But comrades . . ." he began. The truckers laughed in his face, went to their cabs and turned on their motors.

New Treasurer Fills Two Posts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two posts in the state treasurer's office have been filled by treasurer-elect John D. Herbert.

The incoming Republican named David J. Evans of Upper Arlington as assistant treasurer and James C. Dayton of Columbus as cashier.

Evans, 41, was vice chairman and manager of Herbert's campaign committee. He is a vice president of Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Association here.

Dayton, a Marysville native, is 29. He served eight years in the treasurer's office before moving to his current job as a state examiner in the office of State Auditor James Rhodes, the governor-elect. He held the post of assistant cashier for three years prior to taking his present job.

20 Lashes 'Well Laid On' Part of Youth's Sentence

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A 19-year-old was convicted of violating probation. The sentence included 20 lashes with a cat-o-nine-tails "inflicted publicly by strokes on the bare back well laid on."

The scene took place here Nov. 13, 1962. The sentence was legal. It was also feasible, since there are two public whipping posts in Delaware.

No date for the whipping of Franklin W. Cannon Jr. has been set, but—barring legal moves that may reach the U.S. Supreme Court—the date will be set and the sentence carried out.

The case has stirred a controversy in state and nation. Civil liberties groups branded the punishment as barbaric. Sociologists called it archaic. Penologists expressed the opinion that whipping is useless in halting crime.

The controversy revolves around two questions: is whipping a brutal punishment, and does it help to deter crime?

One of the questions is as old as the United States, whose constitution—along with the constitution of Delaware—prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments."

Our grandfathers would have been surprised at the controversy. Until recent times, whipping was an accepted means of punishing criminals in nearly every country. In many nations, it still is.

England abolished corporal punishment in 1948. Canada still has it, and criminals there are regularly sentenced to the lash for a variety of offenses, from rape to armed burglary.

Even where whipping is legal, its use has diminished over the past 50 years. If Cannon is flogged, it will be the first such sentence carried out in Delaware in more than a decade.

Many believe the punishment will never be carried out. Cannon's attorneys have said they will fight the sentence to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary, arguing that flogging is cruel and inhuman.

Cincy Stores Warned

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police have warned three more downtown Cincinnati shops to expect court citations if they open Sunday. Patrolman Harold Freytag said the warnings went to Saxony Imports, Cohen Shoe Store and Hirschman's Department Store.

A quarter-million persons visited Schoenbrunn Village near New Philadelphia during the 1962 season. Francis Mcasters, district manager for the Northwest section of The Ohio Historical Society's properties, has reported.

Three Bank Robberies Admitted by Drummer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Thomas J. Miller, 28, dance band drummer and admitted bank robber, faces three concurrent 10-year prison terms ordered after his lawyer said, "I think he wanted to be caught." Judge John Peck set the penalty Thursday on Miller's plea of guilty to three bank robberies that netted nearly $14,000.

Attorney William Hopkins noted Miller used a bright red, easily recognized sports car for his get-aways, and told the court, "I think he had to prove something to himself."

vel says recent publicity about the whipping post has been "damaging to Delaware and to the whole United States."

There are 24 crimes in Delaware that are punishable by flogging, including wife-beating, larceny of a horse or mule and perjury. The minimum number of lashes is 5, the maximum 60, under a law adopted in 1717.

Does whipping help to deter crime?

Judge Stewart Lynch, who imposed the sentence on Cannon along with a 3-year jail term when the youth broke probation for an original grand larceny conviction, believes it does.

"I know just one thing," he said. "In my 30 years of practice I found that criminals feared the lash more than serving time."

Mississippi State Strong, But Strapped by Tradition

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mississippi State, probably one of the strongest college basketball teams in the country, isn't likely to go anywhere.

Not that they won't win a bundle of games, maybe even more than any other team in the rugged Southeastern Conference. And that includes pot at Kentucky.

But the Bulldogs are barred by tradition from competing against schools with Negro players. That eliminates them from the NCAA and NIT post-season events, just as it did last season.

So about all the Bulldogs can shoot for—in addition to the SEC title—is improving on last season's record. That may take a bit of doing, since Mississippi State was 24-1 for the year and 13-1 in the conference, matching Kentucky for the top.

Coach Babe McCarthy's veteran crew, ranked fifth in the nation, appears to be well on its way. They showed a diversified, accurate attack which powered them past Louisiana Tech 80-61 Thursday night, their second straight triumph this season and 15th in a row.

St. Bonaventure, trying to regain a spot in the national ratings, romped to an 80-56 triumph over Villa Madonna, unbeaten New Mexico scored a surprisingly easy 90-66 victory over exas Tech, Notre Dame's young team beat St. Francis, Pa., 101-70, Illinois trimmed Washington of St. Louis 99-55 and Utah beat Los Angeles State 94-66.

Columbia beat Colgate 78-67, Georgia topped South Carolina 85-72, Georgia Tech bombed Southern Methodist 73-56 Florida romped over Florida State 80-59 Boston College beat Harvard 57-45, and Miami, Fla. defeated Rhode Island 88-80.

NFL Tickets At Premium For Title Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League championship game is going to drive a lot of people out of town.

That may be the only way they can see it.

Tickets haven't gone on sale yet, and already it looks like it might have been easier to snag a pair of seats on Noah's Ark than for Yankee Stadium for the Dec. 30 game between the New York Giants and the Western Division winner.

Hundreds of New York fans have reported they plan to travel to areas where the game will be shown on television. It is blacked out for a 75-mile area around New York.

Some 45,000 season ticket holders get the first call on seats. The rest are limited to four to a buyer, who must call in person to get them.

Tom Tresh AL Rookie of Year

Switchhitting Star Cog in Yankee Drive

BOSTON (AP)—Switchhitter Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees walked right past his father's major league footsteps into the American League Rookie of the Year award today.

A picture of versatility in all he undertook, Tresh drew the votes of 13 of the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who were on the selection committee.

Los Angeles Angels' catcher Bob Rodgers was named on four ballots while one vote apiece was given to Minnesota second baseman Bernie Allen, Los Angeles pitcher Dean Chance and fireballing relief hurler Dick Radatz of Boston.

Tresh was a vital cog in another Yankee march to baseball supremacy, playing 111 games at shortstop, then moving to left field for 43 after Tony Kubek returned from service. With three additional games in a pinch-hit role, Tresh batted .286, scored 94 runs, drove in 93, hit 26 doubles, five triples and 20 homers.

Born in Detroit 24 years ago, Tresh is the son of former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians catcher Mike Tresh, 1938-49.

The latter was known as a fine, iron-man receiver who caught every game in one season. His best batting season was 1940 when he hit .281.

Mike Tresh was in the stands when Tom won the fifth World Series game 5-2 over San Francisco by hitting a three-run, eighth-inning homer.

The younger Tresh is a 6-foot, 180-pounder who says he prefers the outfield to shortstop. He currently is in his sixth semester at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., where he is majoring in physical education.

Rookie of the Year in the International League a year ago, Tresh was second on the Yankees in hits with 178 and RBI with 93 and was third behind Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson in total bases.

Lenoir Rhyne Aims for Title

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The Bears of Lenoir Rhyne aim for their second national small college football title in three years in the Camellia Bowl against Central Oklahoma State Saturday.

The game between the two unbeaten and untied teams was rated a tossup. Overcast weather with temperatures in the low 50s was forecast for the game for the NAIA title.

Lenoir Rhyne, of Hickory, N.C., running from a single-wing featuring spinner plays, collides with the split-T attack of Central Oklahoma's Bronchos that scored 322 points in 10 games.

Lenoir Rhyne won the NAIA championship in 1960 and was the runner-up in 1959. Central Oklahoma is making its first appearance in the title classic.

Both coaches reported their teams in top shape.

Western Title in NFL Still Up for Grabs; East Settled

NEW YORK (AP)—With the New York Giants firmly tucked away as the National Football League's Eastern Conference champions for the second straight year, the Western title and a frantic scramble to determine the second-place finisher in the East occupy this weekend's attention.

The Washington Redskins, at the break-even point of 5-5-2 after their fine start, make a do-or-die bid for second in the East Saturday afternoon in Baltimore against the Colts, in a nationally televised game (CBS). A victory would keep them in the running with Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Dallas, all aiming at a spot in the Playoff Bowl at Miami Jan. 5 against the Western runner-up.

Green Bay can clinch a tie for its third consecutive Western Conference title by beating San Francisco Sunday on the West Coast. A Packer victory plus an upset of Detroit by the Minnesota Vikings would make the Packers champs. Otherwise, the title won't be decided until next Sunday's wind-up when Green Bay takes on the Los Angeles Rams and Detroit plays rugged Chicago. The Bears host the Rams this Sunday.

This week's selections (last week 7 correct, 4 wrong; season total, 78 correct, 43 wrong, 5 ties):

NFL
Green Bay over San Francisco—Powerful Packers want to wrap up the Western title on their own. San Francisco offense no mystery to Green Bay's rugged defense.

Detroit over Minnesota—Lions had close call against Vikings three weeks ago, but bail-out artist Earl Morrill came to rescue, and he did it again last week.

New York over Cleveland—Even if Giants ease off and use their reserves, Browns' inconsistent attack led by Frank Ryan and fullback Jimmy Brown, doesn't carry the Y.A. Tittle-Alex Webster sting.

Philadelphia over Pittsburgh—

TV Freshmen Top LE, 41-27

Logan Elm Freshmen traveled to Teays Valley yesterday only to be defeated by their hosts in a 41-27 tilt.

The Braves took the lead in the first two quarters of the cage test and stayed out front by one point as the half-time buzzer sounded, 17-16.

The Viking squad took the reins in the second half of the battle scoring 25 points in the remaining two quarters.

Bill Dore' and Butch Kinsell were the top scorers for the victors with 14 points each.

D. Reichelderfer topped the Braves' scoring column with eight points.

Ewbank, Landry Back

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Both of last year's head coaches will return as mentors of the North and South in the 14th annual Senior Bowl football game here Jan. 5. Weeb Ewbank of the Baltimore Colts will make his fourth appearance as head coach for the Southerners, and the Dallas Cowboys' Tom Landry will lead the Yanks.

Philadelphia over Pittsburgh—

Judge Defers Sentence on 2 Cage Fixers

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—With the understanding they face stiff prison terms elsewhere, Judge Heman Clark deferred sentencing Thursday of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Green, two New Yorkers who pleaded guilty to college basketball fix charges.

The two who admitted their roles as contacts and pay-off men, turned state's evidence and offered crucial testimony against Dave Goldberg and Steve Lekometros, St. Louis men convicted of being financial backers in the scandal.

"It's very rare," said Judge Clark in Wake Superior Court, "that the prosecution is as successful in reaching as high up the ladder as to the people that furnish the money."

Solicitor Lester Chalmers told the judge the state would never have been able to bring Goldberg and Lekometros to trial without the testimony of Green and Wagman.

Judge Clark gave Paul Walker, another New Yorker who pleaded guilty to similar bribery charges, 18 months in prison.

Wagman already is under a five year sentence in Florida. He faces five to 10 years in New York. A warrant has been issued for him in Philadelphia. Green has pleaded guilty to charges in New York which could land him a 10 to 20 year term.

Goldberg, 46, and Lekometros, 39, each received five-year terms and stiff fines for supplying the money used to influence North Carolina State College players in eight games.

Top 2-Year-Olds In Nation Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Speedy Scot and Overtrick have been named the top 2-year-old harness horses in the nation in 1962, a poll of sportswriters disclosed today.

The U. S. Trotting Association, which conducted the balloting, said 45 of the 101 newsmen contacted named Speedy Scot, owned by Castleton Farm of Lexington, Ky., the top juvenile trotter and selected Overtrick, owned by Mrs. Leonard J. Buck of Far Hills, N. J., as the best pacer.

B. F. Coaltown, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Falter of Columbus, was second in the trotter division, and Timely Beauty, owned by Richard Downing of Cleveland, was the runner-up among the pacers.

Eagles on beam with Pete Retzlaff back to catch Sonny Jurgen's passes. Steelers' defense can't do it all and its offense is battered.

Baltimore over Washington—Johnny Unitas' receivers, Raymond Berry and Jimmy Orr, and Colt runners Mark Smolinski and Lenny Moore, too much for Redskins, and Washington quarterback Norm Snead has very little left in way of running help.

Dallas over St. Louis—Cowboys' 1-2 quarterback punch of Don Meredith and Eddie LeBaron healty again while the poor Cards could use either one in their attack.

Los Angeles over Chicago—Rams have received the quarterbacking they needed from rookie Roman Gabriel and he and his mates may find the Bears a little down after last week's tough loss to New York.

AFL
Buffalo over New York—Despite Johnny Green's aerial strikes to Art Powell and Don Maynard, crushing running of Cookie Gilchrist and Jack Kemp's aerial artistry point to Bills.

Houston over Oakland—Oilers on patented late-season rush for third straight Eastern title and hapless Raiders won't stop George Blanda's passing and Charlie Tolar's rushing.

San Diego over Boston—The Chargers' big defense may prove too troublesome for Pats' Tom Yewcic, who had to scramble to beat Titans in fourth period last week.

Dallas over Denver—Texans had bad game last week while Broncos have not been able to regroup a battered defense.

Mississippi State Strong, But Strapped by Tradition

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Mississippi State, probably one of the strongest college basketball teams in the country, isn't likely to go anywhere.

Not that they won't win a bundle of games, maybe even more than any other team in the rugged Southeastern Conference. And that includes potat Kentucky.

But the Bulldogs are barred by tradition from competing against schools with Negro players. That eliminates them from the NCAA and NIT post-season events, just as it did last season.

So about all the Bulldogs can shoot for—in addition to the SEC title—is improving on last season's record. That may take a bit of doing, since Mississippi State was 24-1 for the year and 13-1 in the conference, matching Kentucky for the top.

Coach Babe McCarthy's veteran crew, ranked fifth in the nation, appears to be well on its way. They showed a diversified, accurate attack which powered them past Louisiana Tech 80-61 Thursday night, their second straight triumph this season and 15th in a row.

St. Bonaventure, trying to regain a spot in the national ratings, romped to an 80-56 triumph over Villa Madonna, unbeaten New Mexico scored a surprisingly easy 99-66 victory over exas Tech, Notre Dame's young team beat St. Francis, Pa., 101-70. Illinois trimmed Washington of St. Louis 99-55 and Utah beat Los Angeles State 94-66.

Columbia beat Colgate 78-67, Georgia topped South Carolina 85-72, Georgia Tech bombed Southern Methodist 73-56 Florida romped over Florida State 80-59 Boston College beat Harvard 57-45, and Miami, Fla. defeated Rhode Island 88-80.

NFL Tickets At Premium For Title Tilt

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League championship game is going to drive a lot of people out of town.

That may be the only way they can see it.

Tickets haven't gone on sale yet, and already it looks like it might have been easier to snag a pair of seats on Noah's Ark than for Yankee Stadium for the Dec. 30 game between the New York Giants and the Western Division winner.

Hundreds of New York fans have reported they plan to travel to areas where the game will be shown on television. It is blacked out for a 75-mile area around New York.

Some 45,000 season ticket holders get the first call on seats. The rest are limited to four to a buyer, who must call in person to get them.

Tom Tresh AL Rookie of Year

Switchhitting Star
Cog in Yankee Drive

BOSTON (AP)—Switchhitter Tom Tresh of the New York Yankees walked right past his father's major league footsteps into the American League Rookie of the Year award today.

A picture of versatility in all he undertook, Tresh drew the votes of 13 of the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who were on the selection committee.

Los Angeles Angels' catcher Bob Rodgers was named on four ballots while one vote apiece was given to Minnesota second baseman Bernie Allen, Los Angeles pitcher Dean Chance and fireballing relief hurler Dick Radatz of Boston.

Tresh was a vital cog in another Yankee march to baseball supremacy, playing 111 games at shortstop then moving to left field for 43 after Tony Kubek returned from service. With three additional games in a pinch-hit role, Tresh batted .286, scored 94 runs, drove in 93, hit 26 doubles, five triples and 20 homers.

Born in Detroit 24 years ago, Tresh is the son of former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians catcher Mike Tresh, 1938-49. The latter was known as a fine, iron-man receiver who caught every game in one season. His best batting season was 1940 when he hit .281.

Mike Tresh was in the stands when Tom won the fifth World Series game 5-2 over San Francisco by hitting a three-run, eighth-inning homer.

The younger Tresh is a 6-foot, 180-pounder who says he prefers the outfield to shortstop. He currently is in his sixth semester at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., where he is majoring in physical education.

Rookie of the Year in the International League a year ago, Tresh was second on the Yankees in hits with 178 and RBI with 93 and was third behind Roger Maris and Bobby Richardson in total bases.

Lenoir Rhyne Aims for Title

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The Bears of Lenoir Rhyne aim for their second national small college football title in three years in the Camellia Bowl against Central Oklahoma State Saturday.

The game between the two unbeaten and untied teams was rated a tossup. Overcast weather with temperatures in the low 50s was forecast for the game for the NAIA title.

Lenoir Rhyne, of Hickory, N.C., running from a single-wing featuring spinner plays, collides with the split-T attack of Central Oklahoma's Bronchos that scored 322 points in 10 games.

Lenoir Rhyne won the NAIA championship in 1960 and was the runner-up in 1959. Central Oklahoma is making its first appearance in the title classic.

Both coaches reported their teams in top shape.

NEW YORK (AP)—Christopher Plummer, an actor who really enjoys a meaty role, had a splendid time playing "Cyrano de Bergerac" to the hilt in an adaptation of Edmond Rostand's swashbuckling classic Thursday night.

NBC's "Hall of Fame" version was lively panned down to less than 90 minutes without damage to the romantic comedy about the unfortunate swordsman and poet who loved so well but believed that he himself was not lovable.

Plummer, who played in an uncut version of the play last summer in Canada, proved a marvelously uninhibited Cyrano, even wearing his grotesque putty nose with a dashing air. He carried out his duel like a young Fairbanks, read the love poetry with passion and even succeeded in giving the buffoon's lines a poignant quality.

"Cyrano" is almost a one man show, but the rest of the large cast gave the program the zest of 17th Century France. Hope Lange was a beautiful Roxanne, Cyrano's light of love.

It is an ironic tale of an ugly man who wrote the poetry with which a handsome fellow won the fair lady they both loved. It was a rich and charming spectacle in color, full of heroic flourishes and high flown sentiments. Those are things you don't find very often these days, inside or outside of television.

Jack Paar scored a coup of sorts by nailing down Judy Garland for a guest appearance. Coincidentally it comes at the precise moment when Miss Garland's voice co-stars in a new cartoon movie which opened this week and is in the process of being publicized and plugged.

Recommended weekend viewing (All times Eastern Standard):
Tonight — "The Jack Paar Show," NBC, 10-11 p.m. — Judy Garland is guest star.
Sunday — "The Wizard of Oz," CBS, 6-8 p.m. — holiday season repeat of the 1939 film classic, with Judy Garland; "The Dinah

Driver Indicted
In Death of Six
School Teachers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Justin J. Geraitis has been indicted on six counts of traffic manslaughter stemming from an accident in which six Akron school teachers lost their lives.

Geraitis, 41, was the driver of a truck that crossed the center strip on U. S. 21 Nov. 2 and slammed into the car carrying the six teachers. He was indicted by the Cuyahoga County Grand jury Thursday.

Authorities said Geraitis apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his truck. The truck driver has said he could not recall anything before his truck hit the car just north of the junction with Ohio 17.

Adenauer Reported Planning
To Retire from Office in Fall

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will retire from office next fall, the parliamentary floor leader of his Christian Democratic party announced today.

Heinrich von Brentano said the chancellor, who will be 87 in January, made the announcement at a meeting of party executives Thursday night.

Brentano also told a meeting of the party's members in parliament the party executives had rejected a coalition government with the opposition Socialists. A new coalition with the Conservative Free Democrats, who quit the government over the Spiegel affair several weeks ago, was practically assured.

Adenauer's impending retirement did not particularly surprise West German politicians. He has been under pressure for some time from his own party to relinquish the government reins to a younger man. He has been chancellor for 13 years, since the West German Republic was inaugurated.

Last year, after his party lost its parliamentary majority and had to form a coalition with the Free Democrats, Adenauer said he would retire in sufficient time before the 1965 general election to give his successor a chance to get used to his office. However, Adenauer refused to set a date for his retirement.

Authoritative Christian Democratic sources say his successor probably will be the vice chancellor and economics minister, Ludwig Erhard, known as the father of West Germany's "miracle" postwar recovery.

on his 1962 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign.

The Postmaster said "It looks like the Christmas mail this year will set an all time record, far exceeding the number of pieces of mail that were dispatched and delivered in the pre-holiday season of 1961".

The Postmaster continued, "Let's not disappoint a single friend or loved one at Christmas time by putting off Christmas mailings to the last minute."

He offered these good suggestions that are easy to follow — Be sure a return address and the recipients name and address are plainly typed or written on all labels and Christmas cards. Always use zone numbers. Avoid abbreviations of state and city names.

Try to bring parcels to the post windows before 10 a. m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p. m. to avoid the noon hour rush.

Pack Christmas gifts in strong corrugated cartons. Use plenty of stuffing material to insure safe delivery. Seal packages with heavy paper, adhesive tape and tie them with good, strong cord. Be sure to ask about Parcel Post size and weight limitations when you go to the Post Office to buy stamps.

Beginning December 10, service windows at the Post Office will be open from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Try to get all of Christmas presents mailed before December 10. Christmas cards for out-of-town delivery should be sent before December 15, and those for local addresses should be mailed at least a week before Christmas. The Postmaster reminded that we can make it a merrier Christmas for everybody if we will "Mail Early — and Often!"

Sheriff's Dept. Probes Shooting

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department today continued its investigation of a shooting incident that occurred here Wednesday.

John Maughmer, Chillicothe, was taken to Berger Hospital with a .22 caliber rifle wound of the left shoulder. According to Deputy George Linder, Maughmer was "highly intoxicated" and was arrested and jailed.

Also being held in connection with the shooting are Emanuel Turner, Route 2, and Charlotte Cooper, Chillicothe.

Deputy Linder said the Maughmer and Miss Cooper were visiting Turner when the shooting occurred.

Each of the three involved gave different accounts of the shooting and are being held at the Pickaway County Jail for further probing of the matter, Deputy Linder added.

The name Hong Kong means "Fragrant Harbor" in Chinese.
